

Blessing Trinity Place

Saturday, June 2, 2018

It was a glorious day at Trinity Place with friends joining the Trinity community.

The Rev. Donald Golden (Mt. Olive), Rabbi Ann Landowne (Temple Beth-el), The Rev. Virginia Tyler-Smith (Honeoye Falls), The Rev. Andrew Van Buren (Clifton Springs), The Rev. David Heffling and The Rev. Michael Dudley (Canandaigua), The Rev. Peter Peters and Sara Peters, Cliff Chan from HWS, and of course, Bishop Singh were some of those helping us celebrate. Meanwhile, as you can see, Beth and Kim found a great place to chow down on Redman's delicious fried chicken, while Andrew allowed Prince and Cam

to share the library with him.

Peg and Wayne King painted the Trinity Place tree before they left for the season, and now they can see how great it looks adorned by local artist

Sylvia R. Apple's fabric art and paintings. More to come about an "Opening" for her work being displayed all month at TP.

Keren Tuxill wrote an apt and beautiful summary of Bishop Singh's sermon: "The Bishop spoke eloquently of coming , as Jesus did, down from the mountain into the village, of stepping out of our comfort zones to be accessible and vulnerable, and about how, in being a bridge from one world to another, one also becomes a footpath. He spoke about the truth that everyone of us is wounded and in that lies our strength."

Symbols of ministry, some ecclesiastical (stole) and others playful (newsprint and yoga mat), were also presented by members of the congregation to remind us all of our mission of hospitality and sharing.

Rev. Golden (Baptist) remarked to me, "I didn't know you all sang so much!" Well, it's not hard when we have something to sing about. Thanks to all!
