

Protocols for Eucharist in the time of COVID

3/9/21

- The presider will prepare the table alone and then use hand sanitizer.
- After the consecration, the presider will again use the hand sanitizer and with mask in place move into a position to communicate those desiring to receive.
- The communicants will come forward in the center aisle, one by one with masks on, properly spaced out, and sanitize their hands before approaching the presider to receive.
- After the communicant has received the consecrated host, they return to their seat by the side aisle and then lower their mask to consume the host.